

Sharon Jackson has that rare ability to both identify and focus on crux fundraising issues and follow this through with sound, practical support. She works very effectively with all levels of an organisation due to her excellent communication skills, warm personality and experience as both a senior fundraiser and CEO.

Sharon recently undertook a health-check of Build It's fundraising strategy and gave us clear guidance on how to improve. This included working with us to re-define our high value donor fundraising strategy to great effect.

I have worked with Sharon for over 12 years and have always found her insightful, professional and very enjoyable to work with.
